

Ray McLeod to Lead Disciples Care Network
Annual Meeting Educational Seminar

Leadership Transition and Succession Planning

Ray A. McLeod is Vice President, Client Services & Communications, at the Center for Nonprofit Management in Dallas.

Mr. McLeod has a certificate in nonprofit management and a certificate in nonprofit leadership. Mr. McLeod has worked in the public, private, educational and nonprofit sectors and has a balance of nonprofit and for-profit leadership experience.

Ray McLeod was selected to the 2007 Executive Transitions Institute to participate in a national consultant training program on executive transition management and succession planning. He recently completed a succession plan consultation for the top management team of a state-wide agency serving people with disabilities.

Through this Leadership Transition and Succession Planning seminar, you will learn a framework for sustaining your agency through any changes in leadership. Learn how to prepare for planned and unplanned departures, how to communicate with key stakeholders through the process and what role the board plays during this pivotal time. Mismanaged transitions often lead to organizational struggle and loss of financial support.

Who should attend?

Senior nonprofit leadership: CEO, CFO, Directors of Development, board members, Regional Ministers and any persons responsible for helping nonprofits and congregations through transition periods. While targeted for nonprofit agencies, information also will be relevant to church leadership transition.
